

Dear Parents and adopted people,

It can be difficult for you to work your answer exactly, but is still vital to try to think through your hopes and expectations beforehand. It will help to talk them through with others. We will highlight the importance of being as clear as you can about your expectations as they can really shape how the reunion begins and develops. But, we will still respect your answers no matter how many you give.

If possible, please have both the parents and adopted people answer the following questions separately. Thank you for your kind assistance.

1. Who initiates the reunion meeting/root's finding trip?
2. At what age the adopted people started asking about his/her birth background?
3. What kinds of questions did the adopted people ever mention?
4. How did the adoptive parents respond to adopted people's question?
5. What specific information will the adopted people want to explore?
6. Is there any information the adopted people ever mention about his/her birth-family? How did he/she react toward the information?
7. What are the adopted people's characteristics, personality, and special events that we should know before the reunion?
8. What is the feeling of adoptive parents when the adopted people mentioning about meeting with the birthmother?
9. Have there been any difficulties between the parents and adopted people?
Please give us some information or examples situation.
10. What will be the expectation of the adoptive parents/adopted people from the reunion?
11. Is there anything happening to trigger the final decision to take the step of roots-finding or reunion?
12. What has let the adoptive parents and adopted people to thinking about reunion?
What are you worried about? Who is available to support you after the process of reunion?
13. What if the birth mother could not be reached or refused to meet with?
14. Will there be any support to both the parents and adopted people in your country after the reunion?
15. Is there any suggestion you will like to give to social workers at Cathwel?
